The Way to Happiness

Clean your house internally.

Clean your heart, as it still aches in ways that you have yet to address.

Clean your closet of doubt, as doubt will delay the way.

I am here for you.

Clean your mind and know that the truth of the world will be presented to you.

Clean your mouth, as the words that pour out should pound and resound truth, light and love
For the power of those things will ring for all to hear.

Clean your health, so you can go each day and commit to the level that you need.

Clean your shame, as there is no need for blame.

Clean your guilt, as this will wilt my direction for you.

Clean your resentment, as it will lay clay and harden your skill.

Clean your hate, as it will never bring water to the tree.

Clean your anger, as it will defy a world of love.

Clean your conscience, as I am not heard when there is so much darkness.

Clean your veins, as they give you energy and promise of a new day.

Clean your loss, for you have lost nothing.

Clean your eyes, so that you can see what I have for you.

I have cleared the way Lord, I am ready.

Clear Days, Clear Nights, Clear Commitment to my soul.

I am Ready!!

Are You?
